

Dear Friends,

Six years ago our life took on a new purpose and meaning when our sweet son Liam was diagnosed with SSADH deficiency (Succinic Semialdehyde Dehydrogenase Deficiency) when he was 6 months old. For those affected by this rare pediatric neurotransmitter disease, the ability to walk, eat, speak and communicate can be quite challenging — but our family has witnessed the unbelievable inspiration that also comes from these challenges.

We are delighted to share with you that Liam has made great strides learning to walk over the past year. His hard work and determination continue to amaze us and his progress has only strengthened our family's mission to support research and services that will help children and families who are impacted by SSADH deficiency.

The link to an improved quality of life for Liam and for others is achievable with your support. We hope you will join us for the 2nd annual Liam's Links Golf Tournament followed by a silent auction and reception.

Every parent desperately wants his or her child to live a happy life that is filled with peace, love and joy. Together we can become a catalyst of hope for their future.

Sincerely,

Jay + Diana

Learn about SSADH

Liam's Links is an event sponsored by SSADH Research Alliance, Inc., a 501(c)(3) non-profit, tax exempt voluntary organization created to raise awareness and research funding for SSADH.

Succinic Semialdehyde Dehydrogenase deficiency (SSADH), is a rare pediatric neurotransmitter disease characterized by the lack of an enzyme needed for neurotransmitters in the brain to correctly signal one another. SSADH symptoms vary from case to case, however, most individuals are affected by delays in mental and physical activities, as well as language and speech development.

Today there are approximately 400 diagnosed cases of this disease, and, while there is no known cure, medical advancements are already being made that can further improve the quality of life for those children who are affected.

Make a Donation

Your donation, large or small, will go a long way in helping to ensure that Liam's Links is a catalyst of hope for the children and families impacted by this disease. All proceeds will benefit the SSADH Research Alliance, Inc.*
